Thailand: [The first Communist insurgent attack against a government installation has been reported in northeast Thailand.]

[A 12-man raiding party attacked a small police information center in the northeast province of Nakhon Phanom on 21 December, killing one civilian and wounding another. The attack occurred in an area close to where bands of subversives have been reported training in recent months.]

[Thai officials at the scene claim that the apparent leader of the raiders, who was killed, was of non-Thai origin. Recent unconfirmed reports have stated that the subversives in the northeast are getting outside support for increased activity, including Vietnamese cadres.]

Common Market: [Although France announced last week its willingness to attend a meeting of the Six in Luxembourg in January, it is still uncertain how, or whether, a resolution of the community crisis will be achieved.]

25X6 [redacted]
Couve de Murville's reply to the Five's invitation to attend an extraordinary EEC Council session merely accepted Spaak's suggestion that the meeting cover a "general review of the EEC situation." ]

25X6 [Paris apparently intends to go along with the community's end-of-the-year 10-percent internal tariff cut and with next year's community budgets, but possibly only on a month-to-month basis. According to EEC President Hallstein's top aide, however, the commission suspects that such French conciliatory gestures are intended to prevent the Five from taking "positive action"--for example, on the Kennedy Round.]
